The Immaculate Conception

In the Constitution Ineffabilis Deus of 8 December, 1854, Pius IX pronounced and defined that the Blessed Virgin Mary "in the first instance of her conception, by a singular privilege and grace granted by God, in view of the merits of Jesus Christ, the Saviour of the human race, was preserved exempt from all stain of original sin."

The Miraculous Medal shown in cover, also known as the Medal of the Immaculate Conception, is a medal, the design of which was originated by Saint Catherine Labouré following her vision of the Blessed Virgin Mary in 1830. Above: Chapel of the Miraculous Medal in Paris.

WARNING ADVENT VIRUS

Be on the alert for symptoms of inner HOPE, PEACE, JOY AND LOVE. The hearts of a great many have already been exposed to this virus and it is possible that people everywhere could come down with it in epidemic proportions. This could pose a serious threat to what has, up to now, been a fairly stable condition of conflict in the world. Some signs and symptoms of the Advent Virus:

- A tendency to think and act spontaneously rather than on fears based on past experiences.
- An unmistakable ability to enjoy each moment.
- A loss of interest in judging other people.
- A loss of interest in interpreting the actions of others.
- A loss of interest in conflict.
- A loss of the ability to worry. (This is a very serious symptom.)
- Frequent, overwhelming episodes of appreciation.
- Contented feelings of connectedness with others and nature.
- Frequent attacks of smiling.
- An increasing tendency to let things happen rather than make them happen.
- An increased susceptibility to the love extended by others as well as the uncontrollable urge to extend it.

Please share this warning with all your friends. This virus can and has affected many systems. Some systems have been completely cleaned out because of it.

THE SYMBOLS OF ADVENT

The Advent Wreath

Advent is a time of preparation in anticipation of the coming of Christ. It is first a commemoration of Christ's birth 2,000 years ago and second, though no less important, an acknowledgment that we are still waiting for Christ's second coming at the end of time. One of the most visible symbols of Advent is the Advent Wreath. While there is debate about when the Advent Wreath began to be used, it finds its origin in the pre-Christian German practice of making a wreath of evergreens and, during the cold winter nights, lighting candles on the wreath in anticipation of the coming spring. Today, the Advent Wreath is a visible sign of our waiting for Jesus Christ. Traditionally, there are three purple candles and one rose or pink candle on the wreath. These candles represent the light of Christ, which came into the world on that first Christmas 2000 years ago and still remains with us today. During the first, second, and fourth weeks of Advent, we light the purple candles, which symbolize the penitential nature of the season (traditionally Advent was a time of fasting and prayer just as Lent is today). The rose candle, which symbolizes joy and is meant to signal joyful anticipation of the coming of Christ, is lit during the third Sunday of Advent. The vestments that the priest or bishop wears each Sunday of Advent will correspond to the color of the candle that is being lit. Finally, some Advent wreaths have a white candle in the middle, which represent the purity of Christ. This candle is lit on either Christmas Eve or Christmas Day as a sign that Christ has come into the world.

The Advent wreath itself is symbolic as well. First, it is circular, representing the eternity of the Triune God, who has no beginning and will have no end. Next, the wreath is made of evergreen branches. These branches represent the eternal life of Christ which we hope to share after our lives on earth end.

Safeguarding Children and Addressing Abuse

The Archdiocese Responds to all Allegations Quickly and Appropriately

In line with Archbishop Myers' personal directive and a Memorandum of Understanding with County Prosecutors, the Archdiocese reports all allegations of sexual abuse of minors to the local County Prosecutor, and cooperates with law enforcement investigations.

Those accused of abuse are temporarily removed from ministry or assignment while investigations are ongoing. If the allegation is substantiated, the removal is permanent.

Since his arrival in 2001, Archbishop Myers has removed permanently from ministry 19 priests against whom allegations were substantiated and who faced penalties under Church law. Only two Archdiocesan priests have been convicted or pleaded guilty to criminal charges involving minors during this same time, and both have resigned or been dismissed from the priesthood. No Archdiocesan priest has been charged with a crime involving minors since 2004.

15 Ways to Teach Children to Pray

By, Nancy FLANDERS
Creative Catechist Magazine

The single most powerful thing Catholic parents can do for their children is teach them to pray. As catechists, we can also teach children how to have a close relationship with God. There are a variety of ways to teach your students to pray. No matter what age your learners are, it's never too late. Here are some ideas to use in the classroom, as well as ideas for the students to practice at home:

1. Introduce Common Prayers

Start with a simple prayer like the Our Father and focus on just that one prayer for a couple of weeks. This prayer specifically teaches us how to show respect, request our daily needs, and ask for forgiveness and protection.

2. Teach Gratitude

Jared Dees, catechetical minister, says, "At dinnertime, have parents ask kids to share one thing they are thankful for to help them develop a spirit of gratitude."

3. Teach your children to listen

Teach children how to be still and recognize God's answers to their prayers. This involves follow-up. If a child prays for something, make sure you talk about whether or not she gets what she prayed for. If she does, teach her to say a prayer of thanks. If she doesn't, talk about how that can be an answer to her prayer, too.

4. Read the Bible together

Sister Regina Cochran, F.S.E., says, "Reading the Bible is important, and not just a children's Bible." (She reminds us that there are, of course, certain sections, especially in the Old Testament, that are not story-time material.) She says, "Read from God's inspired Word—especially the stories we all grew up with, such as Noah, Abraham, Moses, Jonah, etc. These are exciting to children. Children's Bibles are good for children to read on their own. However, reading pure Scripture to children can make a deeper impact."

5. Encourage children to keep a prayer journal

In it, your students can write down their favorite prayers, draw pictures of themselves talking to God, or illustrate the gifts God has given them for which they are thankful.

6. Teach obedience

Teach children to pray not only for what they want God to do for them, but what God wants them to do. This mentality will stay with them through life as they pray for guidance during tough times and when making big decisions.

7. Teach the five-finger method

This approach to prayer may help your students become comfortable with praying. It includes five steps: give praise, give thanks, make a request for another person, ask for forgiveness, and make a request for yourself.

8. Read

Keep a variety of Catholic books in the classroom and read them together, or just allow your students to explore the books on their own.

9. Sing

Teach prayer through song. Dees advises parents and catechists to use music with hand motions. Younger children love this, and older kids will come out of their shells. "Praying with praise," he explains, "will get children more involved and using their voices and bodies for the purpose of praising God."

10. Teach the Sign of the Cross

Be sure to incorporate the Sign of the Cross into each prayer you say together, and take the time to teach it correctly. Father Michael Schmitz, chaplain for the University of Minnesota-Duluth Catholic Campus Ministry, says the Sign of the Cross is vital even for young children. He has observed that when many Catholics die, the last gesture they make is to cross themselves. Their very last act on earth is to make the Sign of the Cross, because, according to Father Mike, it has been such a part of their lives as far back as they can remember, beginning with their parents.

11. Pray the Rosary

Dees believes it is important to teach the Rosary even to very young children. It may not be possible to pray the entire Rosary in class, but even just a decade can help your students make praying the Rosary a habit.

12. Create a class prayer

Let your children compose the words to a daily prayer you can say together. This will help them to see that prayers can be in traditional forms (The Lord's Prayer) or in one's own words.

13. Teach your children that nothing is impossible with God

Let your students know that, even when a dream or a goal seems impossible to reach, with God it isn't. Tell your children stories about miracles that have occurred — even in today's world—because of prayer.

14. Read about the saints

Sister Regina says that discussing the saints with your students and reading stories about them can help your children desire a closeness with God while learning about the power of prayer through real-life examples of remarkable lives.

15. Encourage families to pray together

Father Patrick Peyton always taught, "The family that prays together, stays together" — and this is not a cliché. Sister Regina says, "If a child sees their mother and father on their knees, it will take only seconds and he or she will be there with them." Prayer is a daily part of our lives and should be for our students, as well. Dees' last piece of advice is, "Don't get stuck with the basics. Once you know which methods of prayer will work best, stick with them."
